At what point in your adult career did you begin to think that it could lead to mainstream opportunities and celebrity?

I never thought about going mainstream when I was in porn. It wasn't until after I was out that I decided I wanted to pursue an acting career in Hollywood.

What went through your mind when you were filming scenes?

What was going through my mind was whatever was physically going on in the scene. I was completely enveloped in every scene I've ever done.

You've been a blonde and a brunette. When do you have more fun?

Are you kidding? I'm Bree Olson. I could have neon blue hair and still be having fun!

Your cats have such crazy names: Dr. Sniffles and Princess Netty-Puff. How did you come up with them?

Let me put it simply: I am a fucking genius!

You tweeted once that you've never deleted a text message and buy a new phone when your memory is all used up. Is that true? How many phones have you gone through now?

Yes, it's true! I have had about 20 iPhones.

Do you have any crazy hidden talents?

I'm a show-off, so any talents I have are already out there. I'm a great cook, for example, so I plan to start posting more of my cooking videos on my YouTube channel.

You've done it all in your movies, but what's your favorite position for sex? Is there anything you don't like?

I hate reverse and don't particularly like being on top. I like the guy to be in control. In many of my movies you'll notice I didn't do reverse. Sometimes I just flat out told the director, "If you want this scene to be its best, let me fuck my way." They were cool about it and agreed.

How would a guy go about getting your attention? If he met you in a bar or coffee shop, what should he do or say to make you notice him?

If a guy came up to me and was nice and talked to me and made me laugh and seemed smart, I'd totally swap digits.

When you're not working or doing press, what's your favorite way to unwind—aside from hanging out with your kittens?

Honestly, and I'm not saying this because this is a sex mag, I'm saying it because it's a sex mag and I can: Using my vibrator! I love to vibrate even if I'm just watching TV. I plan on doing it as soon as I'm done answering these questions!

I like when girls make the first move, but a lot of girls like it when the guy makes a move first. Which do you prefer?

I like when a guy makes the first move. I like a man who's in control. It makes him seem more confident. If I ever made the first move I'd have yet to even have been kissed.

Have you ever faked an orgasm?

No way! I've never said, "Yesssss!" without meaning it.

Your ex, Charlie Sheen, was known for his comedic timing. Did you learn anything about comedy or acting from him?

No. He's very much his own person. Nobody can be like Charlie Sheen no matter how hard they try. His mind works way differently than other people's minds do, and he's far more complex than anyone I've ever met. Never try to analyze how he thinks. It'll just leave you dumbfounded.
